Preparing Next Generation Teachers

Blended Learning

Our program has made a concerted effort to model the use of technology in a manner that enhances learning outcomes. As a result, we have employed the use of Google Drive and the Canvas Learning Management System to allow for a more in-depth examination of teaching and learning. While this transition was not without its bumps, teachers and Support Providers have articulated the benefits of learning this technology; many have shared they are applying these tools in their own teaching. Yes!

Data Dialogues

While technology integration has been a focus, equally important are the opportunities to engage in professional dialogue with our colleagues. For this reason, our program has embedded two data dialogue sessions. New teachers share their learning and teaching practice with their Support Provider and a Partnership Learning Coach. This coach provides an objective view, while also communicating a spirit of collegiality that welcomes our teachers into our professional community.

Hot News

We hope you can join us for the end-of year events to witness the professional development of our new teachers. Year One candidates will share their professional growth highlights on May 19, and the Year Two event is on May 26. Both events begin at 4 pm and include dinner. We love to have administrators attend! You may RSVP by contacting our Department Specialist, Roselia.Rodriguez@sausd.us.

Fantastic Fact:

We visited the classrooms of more than 50 beginning teachers. Personal feedback was provided to each one.

"I am promoting equity for all my students regardless of where they are in progressing through the standards."
